

■ PASSIONS's Rebecca never has a hair out of place, but Andrea Evans can't be bothered with all that fuss.

Soap Opera Digest: Ever had any big hair mistakes?

Andrea Evans: I had a hair mistake from a fan who cut off some of my hair. Early on, when I was on OLTL [as Tina], a bunch of girls who were my age came up behind me and posed for a picture. And when I was posing for a picture with a couple of them, one took the picture, and one came [up] behind me and cut off a big chunk of hair.

Digest: How did you respond to that?

Evans: Well, there's not much you can do about it. Then you think, "If they had scissors behind me, they could have done far worse." Hair grows back.

Digest: How did you fix it?

Evans: I layered my hair. Same style, but with the new layered look.

Digest: Anything you've ever secretly wanted to do to your hair?

Evans: Back in the early '80s, I was very into the punk thing. I would have loved to put a blue streak through it, but I couldn't do that.

Digest: How much time do you spend in the hair chair at PASSIONS?

Evans: Not that long. They're very good and they're very quick. And they know I don't have a lot of patience for it. I truly am one of the worst. It's ironic that I've always played very, very glamorous women who like their hair just so.

That's so not me in real life. I have very little patience in the chair.

Digest: How do you feel about hair acting?

Evans: Hair is a great accessory. There's the hair slinging and hair posing. Particularly when you play the type of characters I do. It's part of the whole package. It can be used whenever it's effective. □

Rapunzel, Rapunzel: Andrea Evans went to great lengths as OLTL's Tina in the '80s.

Flip Out: This circa '99 look from Evans's Tawny days is not as BOLD, but still BEAUTIFUL.

Hair Today: Evans trades her usually straight hair for romantic ringlets.
